

In the Abstract (clean copy as amended)

A method for converting aromatic hydrocarbons by contacting an aromatic hydrocarbon starting material including benzene and having a non-aromatic compound content of 1% by weight or less, with a catalyst to generate useful C7 and C8 aromatic hydrocarbons while reducing the catalyst deactivation.